FORDNEY TARIFF GOING THROUGH CONGRESS TO-DAY

Embargo on Dyes Remains in the Bill Despite Opposition.

FOUR HOURS' DEBATE.

House Meets Hour and a Half Earlier Than Usual to Deal With Measure.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Opponents of a dye embargo first today in the House in the first phase of their fight to have that provision stricken out of the tariff bill.

Speaker Wright opened a point of order by Representative Fish, Republican, New York, that the conference exceeded its authority in writing the embargo back into the bill after both House and Senate had voted it out.

An appeal was taken from that by a vote of 156 to 147 the appeal was laid on the table.

Representative Fish denounced it as "the worst example of the workings of invisible government" he had ever seen.

The House, meeting an hour and a half earlier than usual, is to take final action on the Fordney-McCumber Bill before adjournment late today, thus paving the way for its final action to-morrow on the Soldiers' Bonus Bill.

The first order of procedure was the reading of the 162-page conference report covering the action taken by the conference on the 2,438 Senate amendments. This proceeding, a formality required by the rules, was of little interest to members, most of whom had acquainted themselves with the chief high spots in the perfected measure.

With the reading ended, the agreement among leaders called for four hours of general debate, with a final vote to follow immediately afterward.

Spirited exchanges between Democratic opponents and Republican proponents were heard for the first time.

The tariff bill, which has been nearly two years in the making, is the most amended measure in the history of the American Congress.

The Senate Finance Committee made 2,087 changes in the original House bill, the House increased this number to 2,438, and the conference, in perfecting the measure, added several hundred more, running the total to around 3,000.

Though the wool, cotton and sugar duties had violent opposition, the chief attack was to be centered on the dye embargo, reintroduced by the Conference Committee, and the 1-1-2 cent rate imposed by the conference on potash.

The Farm Bloc, including both Republicans and Democrats, was organized to battle for a reduction on potash, their aim being to force this article on the free list.

HOUSE RECEIVES REPORT ON BONUS

Final Action Is Put Over Until To-Morrow.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The conference report on the Soldier Bonus Bill was formally presented in the House today. It was decided to postpone action upon it until after the tariff is passed.

The report probably will be brought up on the floor for final action to-morrow, leaders said.

'Ladies of the Invisible Empire' Induce Woman to Take Auto Ride; Give Her 100 Lashes With Strap

One of Quartet Masked; Told Mrs. Tatum She Had "Ruined Daughter."

FAKEN TO LONELY SPOT

Woman in Serious Condition; Her Body a Mass of Bruises.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Sept. 13.—Mrs. L. C. Tatum, aged 46, was reported in a serious condition today as the result of a flogging administered last night to four women, one of them masked, who descended themselves as a committee of the "Ladies of the Invisible Empire."

Mrs. Tatum, who is reported to have been flogged by the four of "ruining her daughter."

The women, who announced themselves as members of a secret society, entered Mrs. Tatum's home at 1015 E. 10th street, and induced her to take a drive in her automobile.

The car was then driven six miles from her home at Stop No. 8, Dallas Pike, where her assailants, she said, applied straps with bells fastened to the ends.

According to a Mrs. Floyd, aunt of the victim, Mrs. Tatum's body was a mass of bruises.

County authorities investigating the flogging said a group of local church women recently sought to have Mrs. Tatum's fourteen-year-old daughter surrendered to the courts on the grounds she was not receiving proper attention.

No threats had been received by Mrs. Tatum, Mrs. Floyd said, but she told the officers that the women who whipped Mrs. Tatum said they were from Dallas. They accused Mrs. Tatum of "ruining her daughter."

Mrs. Tatum said that if "Tarrant County" can't do anything, Dallas can't.

The first news of the flogging came through a telephone call to a local newspaper asking that reporters be sent to another paper. There a note lay on the desk, reading:

"A committee of four women of the Ladies of the Invisible Empire administered one hundred lashes to a Mrs. Tatum who lives at Stop No. 8 on the Dallas Pike, on the night of Sept. 12."

Later a young man appeared at the office and told of alleged mistreatment by Mrs. Tatum of her daughter. He gave the reporters directions as to how to reach Mrs. Tatum's home and disappeared.

SCHOOLBOY KILLED IN GANG BATTLE; TWO ARE WOUNDED

Goodwin Diamond Shot Dead on Way Home From School With Brother.

MOTHER ILL IN HOSPITAL

She Has Not Yet Been Told of the Slaying of Her Son.

While the funeral for Goodwin Diamond, sixteen-year-old night school boy, who was killed during a gang fight at Bushwick Place and Varet Street, Brooklyn, early to-day, was being held from his home at No. 265 Diel Street this afternoon, his mother, Mrs. Minnie Diamond, was in Kibor Chelom Hospital in Summer Avenue, unconscious of her bereavement.

Mrs. Diamond has been ill of typhoid fever. Preparations had been made to take her to her home, Sunday, when she was to be discharged. Instead, she will be removed to the home of her grandmother, so she will not learn of her son's absence until she is stronger.

Police at first thought the battle which cost the Diamond boy his life was between bootleggers, but later decided it was the result of a personal quarrel. Leon Klotz, of No. 225 Cook Street, was wounded in the leg, and Albert Camera, eighteen, of No. 215 Varet Street, received a bullet in the abdomen. Both are in St. Catherine's Hospital, where they are reported to have passed the night well, although Camera is still in a dangerous condition.

Salvatore Piazzi, twenty-two, of No. 177 Boerum Street, and Giuseppe Geluso, same address, now are under arrest. The police are looking for a number of others, some of whom are said to have been friends of Klotz and Camera, and others, friends of Piazzi and Geluso.

The fight is said to have started when Klotz shouted "Hello, Pison" to Piazzi. "Pison" is an Italian word meaning "rule." Piazzi resented the remark and the two men exchanged words. Klotz then ran to No. 215 Varet Street and called out some friends, telling them he expected trouble. They walked to the corner, where, in the meantime, Piazzi and Geluso had received reinforcements.

The shooting followed. Klotz and Camera fell almost immediately. Goodwin Diamond was a Western Union messenger and attended night school at the Eastern District High School. His brother Louis, fourteen, goes to night classes at the Boys' High School. They met to go home together and arrived at the corner just as the shooting began.

Louis said he saw everybody caught.

Princess Anastase May Be Queen Of Greece Through Abdication; Widow of Leeds, Tin Plate 'King'

Constantine Said to Favor His Brother, Prince Christopher, as Successor.

EXPECTED TO QUIT.

Mrs. Leeds Has Spent Millions in Restoring Glories of Ancient Empire.

PARIS, Sept. 13.—An American woman—the former Mrs. William D. Leeds, widow of the Tin-plate King—may become the Queen of Greece in case King Constantine, whose throne is tottering because of Turkish victories, abdicates.

In high Greek circles here to-day it was believed that Constantine, who is blamed for the disastrous war in which the Greeks have been driven from large portions of Asia Minor, will abdicate in favor of his brother, Prince Christopher, husband of Mrs. Leeds.

Mrs. Leeds—the Princess Anastase—is reported to have spent millions of dollars from the estate left her by her first husband—who began life as a railroad man—in restoring the "glories of Greece." It was said to be through her influence in part—that King Constantine was returned to the throne.

The son of the "Tin-Plate" Princess, William D. Leeds Jr., married also into Greek royalty, becoming the husband of Princess Xenia nearly a year ago.

Venezio, veteran statesman of Greece, was in Paris to-day to confer with French officials. Since the discussion of Constantine's probable abdication, the return to power of the aged statesman has been freely discussed. He will not, however, resume his duties as Premier until all of the present newly chosen Cabinet steps out, he said.

SCHOOL FIRE SET BY GIRL, 13, SHE ADMITS IN COURT

Bought Kerosene and Ignited Papers in Five Places—Pupils Dismissed.

Antoinette Sergi, thirteen, admitted in Children's Court, Brooklyn, to-day that she started fires in five places in Public School No. 46, Union and Henry Streets, Brooklyn, yesterday afternoon. She told Judge Wilkin that she did not like the school, where she is a pupil in the fifth grade.

She bought 5 cents worth of kerosene in a grocery and soaked five pieces of newspaper, which she placed in different spots. She lighted the paper with matches. Although it was 4:20 P. M., there were still some pupils in the school on account of the double session system due to high enrollment. The fire was quickly discovered and the school was emptied of pupils in an orderly manner in three minutes.

An investigation resulted in the arrest of the girl. The complaint against her was made by Miss Clara Nichols, Principal of the school. Judge Wilkin to-day remanded the girl in care of the Children's Society until Sept. 20. In the mean time an examination will be made to ascertain if her mental condition is good. The girl lives at No. 219 Columbia Street.

Girl, 16, and Father Kill Her Two Uncles in Battle With Knives

Attacked in Road and Severely Wounded, They Fight Until Assaultants Are Slain.

ROCKYMOUNT, Va., Sept. 13.—After hearing the story of sixteen-year-old Helen Bridges of how she helped her father, Lewis, kill his brother, Lacy, and brother-in-law, Posey Shively, in a fight with knives, the authorities declined to arrest her or her father.

The girl, covered with wounds, made her way here with her father to report the battle. She said the bodies would be found at the roadside fifteen miles from here. The Sheriff and his deputies found them where she said they were.

Bridges had been at odds with her relatives because they refused to visit him and he forbade his daughter to have anything to do with them. He and his daughter were going along the road, he said, when his brother and Shively tried to stab him to death.

Helen ran to his assistance and they attacked her, inflicting a four-inch wound across her breast, other wounds on her side and arm, and a deep gash three inches long on her neck.

"Lacy Bridges hit my father on the head with a rock," the girl said. "Then they pulled knives out of their pockets and began cutting him. I went to his assistance and they cut me. They fought all over the road
